Main goals program:

- developing participants' competences in effective project management,
- increasing efficiency in project implementation,
- preparing participants to apply the acquired knowledge in independently conducted projects,
- improving skills through exercises as part of case studies of a selected project,
- building a foundation of competences for a coherent, mature project management culture,

More about PM Academy:

- The Academy consists of four modules that cover the project management process from A to Z.
- We focus on providing practical knowledge and tools that participants can immediately implement in their own projects.
- Training takes place in small groups allowing for exercises. Thanks to this, participants can immediately use the acquired knowledge and discuss the results with the instructor. It is also an opportunity to meet new people and exchange experiences on project management in various industries.
- The trainers for project managers are practitioners with many years of experience who, in addition to theory, also share examples and experiences from ongoing projects. Thanks to this, participants will learn about real difficulties occurring in the work of a project manager and methods of dealing with them.
- The educational cycle (four modules) is 64 hours of meetings focused on education, improving competences, polishing skills and exchanging experiences. In total, it lasts from 3 to 4 months, and in the break between modules, participants have the opportunity to apply the learned practices in their projects with the mentoring support of the lead trainer.
